

HICKEN BROS. MEAT MARKET.

HICKEN BROTHERS

BUTCHER SHOP

This shop was established by Clotworthy and Crook in 1891. The following year the Hicken brothers bought out the interest of Mr. Crook and the business continued under the firm name of Clotworthy and Hicken until 1898, when Thomas Clotworthy closed out to his partners, John Henry and Addison Hicken. They have always received the major part of the trade of the town although they have had many competitors. A shop would be started and run for a time, but for some reason it would suspend operations. Later another firm would start up but the Hicken Brothers have had no neighbor butchers to stay with it any great length of time.

They have tried hard to keep up with the times by getting machinery and other conveniences to meet the demands of their customers and the patronage they have received is an assurance that the people appreciate their efforts. They have added a free delivery service and put in a telephone for the benefit of their customers. Their pork, mutton and veal are too well known to mention further except to say that they are always the best that the market affords. They provide only the best brands of cured pork and lard and are willing to stand by the verdict of the housewives about their quality. They attribute their success to honest dealing and fair and courteous treatment to all.

HICKEN BROTHERS

BUTCHER SHOP

This shop was established by Clotworthy and Crook in 1891. The following year the Hicken brothers bought out the interest of Mr. Crook and the business continued under the firm name of Clotworthy and Hicken until 1898, when Thomas Clotworthy closed out to his partners, John Henry and Addison Hicken. They have always received the major part of the trade of the town although they have had many competitors. A shop would be started and run for a time, but for some reason it would suspend operations. Later another firm would start up but the Hicken Brothers have had no neighbor

butchers to stay with it any great length of time.

They have tried hard to keep up with the times by getting machinery and other conveniences to meet the demands of their customers and the patronage they have received is an assurance that the people appreciate their efforts. They have added a free delivery service and put in a telephone for the benefit of their customers. Their pork, mutton and veal are too well known to mention further except to say that they are always the best that the market affords. They provide only the best brands of cured pork and lard and are willing to stand by the verdict of the housewives about their quality. They attribute their success to honest dealing and fair and courteous treatment to all.

The Martial Band of Heber was a popular musical group in the valley. Pictured here at a Black Hawk celebration, they are in the front of the picture. Left to right, they are John (Keg) Duke Jr., Robert McKnight, A. Y. Duke, Will Thacker and James Shanks.

their very good exceptional music down through the years, and many new members joined down to the time the high school band was organized and started. Some others who played in the brass band later and down to that time, were: Anthony Olson, Mont Hatch, Guy Alexander, Piercy McMullen, Moroni Morris, Adolphia R. Duke, Andy Anderson, Arthur Olson, Elijah Hicken, Karl Probst, Seymour Duke, Owen Buell, Sterling Duke, Clayton C. Montgomery and others whose names are not available.

They furnished music for all occasions, concerts, holiday celebrations, funerals, etc. At different times the band had band uniforms. It is told of the early 10 members in about 1900 that they were all dressed in uniforms of scarlet coats, tight fitting with gold and red braid down the front and gold braid decorations on the shoulders, navy blue trousers. On their heads they wore dome-shaped navy hats with a large red feather plume. In this uniform they led the funeral procession of Johnathan Clegg and other funerals. They played to all funerals as well as to 4th and 24th parades and celebrations and thrilled the people with patriotism.

Popular for many years in the community were the mandolin and guitar clubs. Hundreds of programs included entertainment by members of these clubs. A few well known performers included Orson Moulton, Derrick Goodwin, Piercy McMullin, Roe Duke, Joe Duke and Alfred Sharp.

Another popular orchestra in the community was the Duke & Olson

Hicken Butcher
Shop

Orson (Pete)
Moulton
Butcher own shop